

Let me see if I've got this straight...

You want it yesterday? If you wanted it today, you'd ask for it tomorrow?!

You demand warp-speed turn-around...

You desire action-provoking impact to penetrate the glazed brains of inundated buyers...

You crave a multi-tasker surprisingly comfortable with ever-shifting priorities...

And, on top of all that, you require someone with profound comprehension of the programs and processes of visual communication...

Oh, and it wouldn't hurt for the person to possess:

Creative insight,

The ability to couple striking visuals with terse and pointed copy, and

A commitment to harmonious—even joyous—teamwork...

So...is this description a fair composite of the graphic designer you envision?

If it is, then perhaps you'd like to know that it describes me to a "T." What is more, I've got another set of skills you might want to toss onto your "wish list":

I'm a renowned problem solver.

I have experience interacting with creative types, technical types, management types, and customer types.

I have strong technical ability, so you don't miss your deadlines waiting for glitches to get fixed.

I'm professional, dedicated to excellence, and determined to succeed.

I've seen your ad. You've seen mine. Now it's your turn again.

Let's talk to see whether it makes sense to explore our options more fully.

Please contact me at your earliest opportunity at (719) 475-2068.

Who knows... This could be the beginning of a beautiful... partnership.
